

STEEDS BREAK A RECORD.

LEO AND FILEMAKER CLEAR THE BARS AT 6 FEET AND 9 INCHES.

CHEERS FROM A GREAT CROWD GREET THE PERFORMANCE—THE PRIZE DIVIDED—OTHER FEATURES OF THE CLOSING DAY OF THE SHOW.

The concluding day's proceedings of the Horse Show at Madison Square Gardens, saw a performance unprecedented in the animals of sport, two horses, Mr. Gebhardt's Leo and Mr. Darian's Filemaker, breaking the hurdle jumping record of six feet eight inches in the evening. Both animals cleared six feet and nine inches, amid loud cheering from a vast crowd of spectators.

Five polo ponies entered the lists at 4:30 to compete for a place of plate offered by H. L. Herbert. They were judged over the regular jumps by James R. Keene, H. L. Herbert, J. W. Wadsworth and Thomas Hiltcock, Jr. Mr. Hiltcock has appeared in the ring on his recent fall. His gray mare Dorothy, ridden by J. Blane, was the only one of five entries that succeeded in getting over the obstacles with any cleverness, and won the prize in a common center. James A. Burden, Jr., Broncho fell twice, giving his rider, P. Pershous, hard knocks each time. T. A. Havemeyer, Jr., Nailer refused, while Sidney Dillon Ripley's Majestic and Louis E. Wilmersdick's Dandy caused a wide scattering of fences.

In awarding the prize for the best appointed "road rig" to Frank Peterson, Jr., bay mare Katherine, by Kentucky Prince-Lady Dart, the judges did not consider either speed, record or breeding. Katherine, who was driven by her owner, had among her competitors J. B. Houston's chestnut mare Clara, by Leland Young Wolf; D. S. Hammond's bay mare Corona, by Hambleton Prince; Nathan Strauss's brown mare Fanny Temple, by Starline, and E. S. Stokes's black gelding Tip Top. Mr. Houston, who is vice-president of the Driving Club of New-York, drove Clara and took the red rosette. The yellow rosette went to Fanny Temple, a superb animal, bred by Robert Bonner. Corona was highly commended. The bay mare Sentress, by Volunteer, who has drawn her owner, Alfred de Cordova, president of the Driving Club, many a fast mile, was entered for this competition, but did not appear. The judges who passed upon the lot were F. K. Sturges, Hugo Fritsch, Colonel William Jay and Reginald W. Rives.

The original conditions of the contest of professional coachmen for a silver cup, offered by Hugo Fritsch, provided that only pairs of horses driven to four-wheel traps should compete. These were changed at the last moment, and instead of pairs and traps single horses and carts appeared in the ring. These were R. F. Carmer's chestnut gelding, driven by Frank Swales; F. T. Underhill's road gelding Go Bang, driven by Edward Smith; Mrs. Langtry's brown gelding Cox, driven by David Davis; Prescott Lawrence's chestnut gelding Revere, driven by Arthur Ross; and Mrs. Prescott Lawrence's chestnut mare Ready, driven by Thomas Chalmers. The competition consisted in driving between pairs of bamboo poles set six feet apart in various parts of the ring. In the passage the distance between the hubs and poles was not more than five inches. The slightest turn at the critical moment was sufficient to knock down the poles. Truer driving has not been seen here. The prize was awarded to David Davis, one of Mrs. Langtry's importations from England, after a most interesting exhibition.

The hunters shown in class 82 were not jumped but judged solely for conformation and quality. Henry Lloyd Herbert's black gelding Transport was surprised by the first prize and E. C. La Montaigne's chestnut gelding Tycoon with the second. Neither could take a four-foot fence without refusing half a dozen times.

The first prize for cobs under saddle went to Mrs. Barclay Warburton's Merrylegs, a handsome, lively bay mare fourteen hands high. Ada Heban was not among the entries. But Mrs. Gilbert was, and she was the white rosette. Mrs. Robert Sedgwick's Bessie was second in point of merit and Prescott Lawrence's Bessie third.

Elizur Smith's Alpino, by Baron Willa-Alma, was adjudged to be the best two-year-old stallion in a competition of five entries. Caron Stock Farm's Syndie took second prize and C. J. Hamilton's Adonis third. The lot were shown to halter. Thomas Hiltcock, Jr.'s Windbeam, who has failed on many occasions to distinguish himself as a qualified hunter, was fortunate enough to secure the first prize in class 87 as the best "light" green hunter. In class 87 as the best "light" green hunter, the animal, although among the entries, did not enter the lists, his owner reserving him for the high jump in the evening.

At 6 o'clock Madame Maranette rode her chestnut gelding Woodlawn into the ring and gave a highly interesting and beneficial exhibition of what an intelligent horse in intelligent hands may be taught to do. This proud and beautiful animal, besides racing all the parts of the most accomplished saddle horse, can dance the waltz, polka, schottische, and so forth, keeping step to the music. At the word of command he changes instantly from one gait to another, never making a mistake. His postures are most graceful, yet comical.

A grand parade of all the prize winners at 8 o'clock gave the rare appearance of a halibut, 190 horses wearing blue, red, white and yellow rosettes prancing and curvetting on the tan-bark.

The exhibition, which closed its doors at 11 o'clock, may be accounted one of the finest and most successful exhibition of its kind ever seen in this or any other country. Among the fifty thousand who have passed the turnstiles since Monday morning may be counted persons eminent in every walk of life, and it may be said that the fashion, beauty and talent of New-York have been congregated within the four walls of the great show building. In prizes, over $10,725 has been given. There have been fifty-nine first, fifty-eight second and forty-nine third prizes, which, with the great record, two much praise cannot be awarded to the officials concerned in the work of the show. The judging has throughout been prompt, decisive and strictly fair, as evinced by the placards which have hung out from the audience as the winning numbers have been one by one posted on the telegraph board. While commendation is due to every member of the staff down to the humblest stable lad, neither the association nor the public is likely to forget the labors of the secretaries, Messrs. Whitman and Heide, to whom the success of the exhibition is mainly due.

WHY PEOPLE GO TO THE EXHIBITION TWICE.
When people who visit the American Institute Fair to more than once, it is because there is enough to see or to do to render the second visit pleasurable. This is what the people of New-York are doing in appreciation of the exhibition in progress at Third-ave. and Sixty-third-st. The plain fact is that the exhibitors find the Fair profitable, and the managers are energetic. From the second-ave. entrance to the front of the building there is nothing out of order. The music is attractive, afternoon and evening, and this aids in the amusement, even away down in the machinery hall. A special feature in a social way has cropped up in the region of the boat exhibit. A loyal Republican woman, an aged widow, residing on a hot on the result. Who she is and where she lives are secrets, but the decoration on the boat and the card of instructions attached tell the story of a Republican victory to be made pleasant when the Flippers fly from the boat's prow. The attendance at the Fair is satisfactory, and the 25 cents admission is appreciated.

NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS

THE WINTER RECREATIONS AT ORANGE.

Bishop Stanley, of Newark, arrived home from Europe last week with his family. Miss Mary Rogers, formerly of East Orange, where she was a prominent figure in society, was married quietly on Wednesday, in Baltimore, to George Carroll, of Carrollton, Md.

Mrs. Abby Sage Richardson read selections from Browning to a select company at the house of Mrs. Edward E. Quimby, Oakwood, Orange, on Tuesday. The next reading will be selections from Dickens and Thackeray.

The Junior Club, one of the most select of the East Orange societies, will give a social dance on November 28. Orange is to have its usual series of Thomas Concerts this winter. The first one will be given on Thursday evening, November 22, with Rafael Joventi, soloist. Mr. Joventi will play Chopin's E minor Concerto, op. 11, No. 1. Madame Fursch-Mad will be the soloist for the second concert.

The entertainment given to Music Hall, Orange, October 20, for the benefit of the yellow fever sufferers, will be repeated in Short Hills Music Hall on Monday, November 19, and be followed by a grand ball. Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Wood, of South Orange, have just sailed for England to visit relatives.

The series of cotillions given in Upper Music Hall, Orange, under the patronage of Mrs. Campbell, of South Orange, will be repeated this winter. These select little dances were among the most enjoyable affairs of last season.

The Orange Athletic Club will give a select amateur minstrel show in Orange Music Hall during the first week in December. Rehearsals under Walter O. Wilkison are in progress.

A HOBOKEN FORGER CAUGHT AT LAST.

Charles Hahr, age twenty-four, who formerly lived in Hoboken, was brought to this city yesterday from Detroit, Mich., to answer charges of forgery. Detective Gallagher has been hunting for him for two years. Hahr studied for the ministry, but his tastes and instincts led him in an entirely different direction. He got into several scrapes in Hoboken and then his mother removed to Buffalo. Charles went to Chicago, where he passed several forged checks purporting to be signed by Hoboken merchants. When Chicago became too warm for him he went to Detroit and there gained the confidence of J. W. Bressler, a retired wealthy merchant. In some manner he gained complete control over Mr. Bressler, and was furnished with all the money he could spend. The detective found him in Mr. Bressler's house. The young man is now in the county jail to answer a charge of forgery by A. S. Hensen, of No. 208 Washington-st., Hoboken.

PAYING A GROTESQUE ELECTION WAGER.

Some said Long Island Democrats yesterday fulfilled election wagers. M. V. B. Murry and Nathaniel Terrell, of Oceanville, made a wager that if Cleveland was elected Terrell was to wrap Murry in an American flag and drive him through the town of Hempstead, accompanied by a brass band, while if Harrison was elected Murry was to drive Terrell in mourning and cart him through the town in the same way. Accordingly yesterday Murry carried out the wager. A dismal procession was formed in the rain, and headed by a brass band, which played a dead march. Murry drove the carriage of mourning and Terrell followed in a hearse. A large number of farmers and their farmhands participated in the procession.

Another odd election bet was paid in Orange, N. J., yesterday. Louis Joseph Selzer bet Gabriel Williams that Mr. Cleveland would be elected, and losing, drew the latter in a road-wagon from C. V. Arnold & Co.'s factory in Orange Valley, a distance of nearly two miles, through the principal streets to the Park House. The winner sat erect in the drenching rain, wearing a white pigtail surmounted by a huge feather, and carrying an American flag in each hand.

THREATENING A JOYOUS REPUBLICAN.

S. Earle, an enthusiastic Republican, who lives at No. 18 Perrine-ave., Jersey City Heights, gave expression to his satisfaction with the Republican victory by displaying an American flag and faceting a broom to the end of the pole. On Friday he received the following anonymous letter:

Sir: Take in the broom you have and your flag pole, or we will set your house on fire. Take warning. You are too smart. Do so at once.

COMMITTEE.

P. S.—You are too fresh.

Mr. Earle was not alarmed, but the threat greatly worried his wife and to satisfy her he told the police, who promised him protection.

MURDERER'S WORK AT PATERSON.

Abraham Winters, a blacksmith, died yesterday in the General Hospital, Paterson, N. J., from injuries to the head, and Coroner Goodridge has ordered an autopsy. He was brought to the hospital on Thursday. Before he became unconscious at the hospital he said that on Tuesday night he was struck on the head by a stone while crossing "Temple Street." There is no such bridge. He had previously told James Delaney, of No. 135 River-st., with whom he boarded, that it was on Straight Street Bridge. He could not tell who threw the stone. Delaney says that Winters had been on a heavy election spree. This supposed homicide, following so closely on the case of Matthew Ash, whose body, plundered of his money, was found in the river Tuesday morning, and who, the physicians say, was certainly drowned, has got into the water, has caused great excitement in Paterson. Up to last evening there was no clew made public pointing to any person as the guilty party in either case.

MANY BERGLAKES AT ELIZABETH.

The frequency of petty robberies in Elizabeth, N. J., is becoming alarming. Late Friday night a man attempted to enter the home of Peter J. Wilson, No. 226 Fulton-st., by forcing a shutter. He was frightened off by the shrieks of Mrs. Wilson. A half-hour afterward the house of William Kleiber, No. 86 Fourth-st., about a block from Wilson's, was entered, the thief breaking open a safe door. Kleiber's daughter Anna was awakened by hearing stealthy footsteps in an adjoining room. She screamed loudly, arousing her father, who chased the man through two blocks but finally lost sight of him in the dark.

John Riley, who entered the house of Frederick H. Levey, the New-York ink manufacturer, in North Street, and carried off a quantity of valuable silverware, was sent to State Prison last year by Judge McCormick, in the Court of General Sessions yesterday.

TRYING TO CREATE A "HAUNTED HOUSE."

Several boys were arranged before Police Judge C. C. Jewell with malicious mischief. Jewell alleged that the boys had broken all the windows in an unoccupied house at No. 533 Newark-ave., for which he is agent. The boys explained the case by stating that they expected to have some fun by creating the impression that the house was haunted. One of them wound a sheet around him and showed himself to the others. A number of men were passing. The men promptly proceeded to "lay" the ghost by throwing stones at him and in that way the windows were broken.

HOBOKEN OPPOSED BY A RAILROAD.

Corporation Counsel Minnurn, of Hoboken, made application to Judge Knapp in the Circuit Court yesterday for an order allowing the Mayor and Aldermen to open River-st. to the river and for the appointment of commissioners to assess damages. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company claims the control of the end of the street, and Counselor Vredenburg, for that corporation, opposed the motion, on the ground that the law is unconstitutional. Judge Knapp overruled the objection, and appointed four commissioners, A. Hardenbergh and Thomas E. Bray Commissioners.

YOUNG BLOOD IN THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

"The City and Country" of Nyack, the leading Democratic organ of that section, has been sold to Benjamin Sherman A. Thompson, son of William H. Thompson, Sheriff of Rockland County. Young Mr. Thompson will assume possession to-morrow. Colonel Charles C. Meservy, the veteran newspaper man, who died three weeks ago, brought the paper, after many vicissitudes, to a high standard of excellence. "The City and Country" was founded in 1859 by Robert Carpenter, and William Will Sikes was its first editor. The entire press of Rockland County is now in the hands of young Mr. Thompson. Four papers out of five having changed management in the last month is a rare record.

A SURROGATE'S WIFE DRINKS POISON.

Mrs. Weller, the wife of surrogate Weller, of Hempstead, L. I., yesterday morning complained of feeling ill and going to a closet took up a bottle which she supposed contained brandy. After drinking a quantity of the contents of the bottle she was seized with vomiting and spasms. Three physicians were summoned when it was ascertained that Mrs. Weller had taken poison instead of brandy. The physicians applied the stomach pump and did all in their power to relieve Mrs. Weller and save her life, but her recovery is doubtful.

AN OLD WOMAN FEARFULLY BURNED.

Helena Schellenger, an aged widow, living in New-st. Paterson, N. J., was so seriously burned about the head and arms yesterday that her recovery is extremely doubtful. She removed her bed-clothing from the bed during the forenoon, placing it on a chair near the stove. During her temporary absence from the room the chair toppled over, and the bed-clothing took fire. When she returned to the room the interior was all in a blaze. She shouted lustily for help and Miss Whitaker, a boarder, responded promptly. The two women put out the fire, but Mrs. Schellenger's clothing took fire and she was fearfully burned.

WILL GLEASON SWING HIS AXE AGAIN?
By the help of the Board of Aldermen of Long Island City, the Long Island Railroad, late on Friday night, secured permission to erect the sheds on Front-st. torn down on July 6 last by Mayor Gleason and his deputies. The Mayor says the Board has no right to so do away public property and the sheds will be erected to his axe.
